bagel (n.) a round, crusty, bread product with a hole in the center which is boiled before it is baked. Legend has it that in 1638 an Austrian baker created it for the King of Poland to thank him for protecting his country from Turkish invaders. To commemorate the King's favorite pastime, he formed his gift to resemble a riding stirrup, giving the bagel its distinctive shape.

meister (n.) master of a specific trade bagelmeister (n.) master bagelmaker who carries on the bagel tradition. Each Bagelmeister bagel is mixed, shaped, kettleboiled and baked from scratch each day, right here in his kitchen. He is committed to using only the finest ingredients in all he prepares, and serving the highest quality goods to you in his friendly, comfortable, neighborhood shop.
